1. Part A:

The information presented in this phase is primarily based on analysis of the country specific reports received in phases 1 and 2 of the project; the general overview of the situation of victim support in Member States (phase 1) and the more in depth exploration of the situation, including promising practices which offer support to victims of crime in different ways (phase 2). Information has also been taken from secondary sources such as the 2009 APAV study on Victims in Europe.¹ While phase 2 of the project was divided into two parts, focussing firstly on generic victim support services and secondly on specialised areas of victim support, this third phase of the project, comprised of Parts A and B, will focus principally on the structure or lack thereof of generic victim support services; although a limited number of questions relate to specialised areas of victim support. For this part, please provide detailed, concise answers. For guidance purposes, sample answers are often provided, which primarily draw on information provided in country-specific reports from phases 1 & 2 of the project. When returning your report to the FRA, please ensure that all sample answers have been deleted, as these are for guidance purposes only and should not form part of your response. In addition, in cases where your country is one of the examples provided, please review and revise the information as necessary, as the information provided may be outdated.

2.1 Scenarios

In the following situations, please describe the referral system (from police to victim support organisation) in the current victim support structure in your country; including whether police routinely refer the victim to a support service; where is the victim referred and who deals with the case in the end (as a guideline, keep to 2 or 3 sentences (maximum) per question within each scenario. Please choose either 'Yes' or 'No' for questions a. and c of each scenario, in addition to questions 6-13 and provide comments in the 'Description' field. For questions b and d, please provide your comments directly in the 'Description' field).

| 1 | A female who has been beaten by her partner and calls the police | a. Do the police routinely refer the victim to a support service? | x | | Under Art. 9 of the Law on Protection Against Domestic Violence² police officers are obliged to inform the victim of domestic violence about the possibilities to receive comprehensive support from the specialised assistance centre. After the Law on protection against domestic violence came into force in 2011 the police routinely refer the victims to the support services and this could prove both governmental institutions (e.g. Municipal child rights protection) and NGOs (specialised assistance centres that perform public functions and provide specialised comprehensive assistance to victims of violence). For instance, Kaunas county women crisis centre indicated cooperation with the police as a part of the services that are provided for victims of domestic violence. The police inform organisation about the case by phone. Representatives of Kaunas county women crisis centre respond to such report immediately and contact victim of domestic violence.³ |
| | | b. If yes, please name the service(s) | - | - | Assistance to victims of domestic violence means providing psychological, legal, social, health care, educational, accommodation and other necessary services provided by the state, municipal institutions and non-governmental organisations. According to the Law on Protection against domestic violence specialised assistance centres are institutions that perform public functions and provide specialised comprehensive assistance to victims of violence. They have been established to implement this law.⁴ |

2.2.1 Models of generic victim support

Generic victim support organisations are for the present purposes defined as “not limited to helping a particular type of victim of crime”. With the above definition in mind, please:

a) Review the list and short description of structure of generic victim support organisations operational in your country provided for in Annex 2 and edit as necessary, ensuring that all significant victim support providers (especially those operating at national level) are mentioned. Countries listed in Annex 2 shaded in green (and in category ‘A’ below) have been identified (on the basis of country reports submitted for phases 1 & 2 of the project) as not having any generic victim support organisations. These countries should provide a short list (in Annex 2) of the main organisation(s) providing victim support in one of the two specialised areas of victim support focused on in the phase 2 country report (see annex 3 for a list). As a default, please select the area ‘Domestic violence and stalking’.

b) Place your country in one of the following categories (A, B, C, D or E) and provide an explanation about why your country should be placed in that group. For each group, one example has been provided for guidance purposes. If your country is one of the examples provided, please review and revise the information as necessary, placing your country in a different group if the information provided is incorrect. Please delete all examples from your response and insert your country name in only ONE column. (Note: only country codes are listed. For full country names, please refer to Annex 1).

| A: No generic victim support provider exists | B: At least one generic victim support service provider exists at national level. The main provider or structure is state run and state funded | C: At least one generic victim support service provider exists at national level. The main provider or structure is non-governmental run but relies strongly on state funding | D: At least one generic victim support service provider exists at national level. The main provider or structure is non-governmental run and does not rely strongly on state funding | E (OTHER) – if you cannot place your country in any of the other categories, please describe |

| LT | There is no official body that has the overall coordinating role in organising victim support services at national level. However Ministry of Social security and labour is responsible for management of social services and preparing long-term and targeted state programmes. One of the main areas of the activities of the Department of Supervision of social services under the Ministry of Social security and labour (Socialinių paslaugų priežiūros departamentas prie Socialinės apsaugos ir darbo ministerijos) is implementation of state social programmes and projects for social services. The following functions of the department relevant for the organising victim support services should be mentioned: administration of social programmes and projects at the state and municipal level and control how the allocated funds are used; control of the process of assessment of an individual's (family's) needs of social services; issue of licenses for providing social care and provision of regular monitoring in order to ensure that licensees comply with the established regulations; establishment of common practice of application of social care norms and requirements for general social service and social care; provision of methodological assistance regarding application of social care norms and control of quality of general social services and social care; etc. ³³ | | | | | |
| 3. What is the legal basis for the type of victim support model that exists in your country (e.g. is it stipulated somewhere in a legal instrument that victim support services be state-run; state-funded etc.?) | | | | | | |
| | There is no legal basis of victim support model that exist in the country. Provisions concerning establishment, financial support and activities of specialised assistance centres for victims of domestic violence are underlined the Order on the specialised assistance centres programme approval ³⁴ . In accordance of part IV of this legal document, activities in the frame of the programme are financed from the state budget of the country, municipalities' budget, financial means of the EU structural funds and other financial means received on the legal basis. | | | | | |

2.2.3 Funding:

Please answer the following questions by completing the tables. Please note that countries that do not have generic victim support service providers (i.e. that fall within category 'A' under question 2.2.2) should not answer questions c & e. For questions g-k, if your country does not have a generic victim support structure in place, please respond to the question with respect to a specialised area of victim support. Please select one of the two specialised areas of victim support you focused on in your phase 2 country report to the FRA (see annex 3 for a list). As a default, please select the area 'Domestic violence and stalking'. If you choose to take another area, provide a short justification for why you have chosen that area.

Important for all: Whether you answer questions g-k with respect to an organisation providing generic victim support or an organisation providing specialised victim support, please choose the biggest organisation (in terms of the organisation that receives most funding, helps most victims nationwide etc.).

2.4 Obligation of police to provide information

| | | Yes | No | Comments (max 2-3 sentences) |
|---|--|-----|----|--|
| 1 | Are police legally obliged to provide all victims with information concerning victim support services? If yes, what is the legal basis for this obligation (e.g. name of the law)? | x | | According to the Law on protection against domestic violence (Art. 9 part 1), police officers must inform the victim about the possibilities of receiving assistance and, upon informing the victim (in practice – written agreement is required), report the incident to a specialised assistance centre. ⁵⁴ The same practice is followed with regards to trafficking in human beings, ⁵⁵ although the law does not require this. It is done under a cooperation agreement of Police Department and NGO Missing Persons Family Support Centre for (Dingusių žmonių šeimų paramos centras), signed on 20 December 2004, and Police Department and NGO Caritas Lithuania, signed on 7 March 2006. ⁵⁶ |
| 2 | Are police legally obliged to provide all victims with information concerning compensation? If yes, what is the legal basis for this obligation (e.g. name of the law)? | x | | Under art. 16 of the Law on Compensation of damage caused by violent crimes, ⁵⁷ the Ministry of Justice and its authorized institutions must provide information on compensation of damage caused by violent crimes. According to art. 46(2) of the Criminal procedure code ⁵⁸ , the information on such compensation must be provided by the prosecutor or pre-trial investigation officer, immediately after the recognition of the status of victim. |
| 3 | Are police legally obliged to provide all victims with information concerning their rights and role in criminal proceedings? If yes, what is the legal basis for this obligation (e.g. name of the law)? | x | | According to art. 45 of the Criminal procedure code pre-trial investigation officers (as well as prosecutors and judges) have the obligation to explain the procedural rights to the parties and provide the possibilities for their implementation. ⁵⁹ Moreover, the police is obliged to provide information on the right to special assistance in domestic violence cases, ⁶⁰ and the right to compensation of damage inflicted by violent crimes. ⁶¹ |

| 4 | Are victims who do not understand or speak the language provided with free of charge interpretation in the language of their choice (e.g. during any interviews or questioning of the victim by the police) | x | | Through Police electronic services system (Policijos elektroninių paslaugų sistema), ⁶² victims can address the police and receive information in Lithuanian, Russian, English and Polish languages. Moreover, the police departments have agreements with translation beauroes with the view of providing information for foreigners at any time. ⁶³ Upon inquiry, the Police department has confirmed that these services are free-of-charge to the victims. If no translation is available (during the night, cases of emergency), simple translation programs, like Google translate, are being used. ⁶⁴ |
| 5 | Are victims notified about their right to receive information about: | | | |
| | (a) any decision not to proceed with or to end an investigation or not to prosecute the offender; | | x | According to art. 214(3) of the Criminal procedure code victim is informed about any decision to end investigation. ⁶⁵ The prosecutor responsible for pre-trial investigation is also responsible for providing such notification, and not the police. |
| | (b) the time and place of the trial, and the nature of the charges. | | x | According to the Criminal procedure code, the court must notify victim on the date of trial and victims in general should participate in trials (art. 233, 319). If there are many victims or civil claimants, they can be informed on the time and place of appellate hearing by press and not later than 10 days before the hearing (art. 319). ⁶⁶ There is no duty of the police in this regard. |
| | (c) any final judgment in a trial | | x | In first instance trials, according to art. 310 of the Criminal procedure code, the judgement is given to the defendant, and also upon request to persons who participated in trial, immediately after the decision, or 5 days after submitting such request (art. 319). ⁶⁷ Therefore, there is no duty under the law to inform about the judgement in first instance court, if victim does not request this information. There is no duty of the police in this regard. |

2.6 Rights of victims in criminal proceedings

Please complete the information in the following tables, choosing ‘Yes’ or ‘No’ and providing a short explanation or justification for each answer. In cases where your country has already been placed in a particular category as an example, check that the category your country has been placed in (i.e. ‘Yes’ or ‘No’) is accurate and revise if necessary.

2.6.1 Definition of victim

Please provide a definition of the term victim in your country:

|---|---|---|
| 1 | What is the main or generic legal definition of the term ‘victim’ (as provided for in national legislation)? | Under art. 28 part 1 of the Criminal procedure code, victim is a private person who suffered physical, material or moral damage due to criminal activity, recognized as such by a decision of a pre-trial officer, prosecutor or court order. ⁷⁸ |
| 2 | Is there a separate definition of ‘vulnerable victims’ (as separate from the main or generic definition of ‘victim’)? | There is no such separate definition in the legislation, but victim support services are also provided to persons who are not recognized as “victims” because of their refusal to testify. The victim has the duty to testify, and in many cases, without the victim’s testimony, criminal procedure is not possible, because the victim is the source of information on factual circumstances of the case. However, it cannot be claimed that the status of victim in all cases will be connected to status of witness. The status of the victim relates to the actual (direct) damage to the person, and to the recognition as the victim by state agent (pre-trial investigator, prosecutor, or judge).⁷⁹ Moreover, under Law on protection against domestic violence, victim of domestic violence is a person against whom domestic violence has been used, also a child who has become a witness of domestic violence or lives in an environment exposed to violence.⁸⁰ |
| 3 | Are parents, children, other family members, same sex partner & first responders included under the main definition of the term victim? | A child, who has become a witness of domestic violence or lives in an environment exposed to violence, is also considered a direct “victim.” Under Criminal procedure code and Law on Protection against domestic violence, the terms “family members” and “domestic environment” are rather wide and should include unmarried persons living together. 2.6.4 Rights of victims at trial

The International Criminal Court (ICC) has created a special unit for victims and witness to provide support before, during and after the trial. Services are delivered by professionals who are often salaried employees of the court, and includes persons with expertise in trauma, including trauma from sexual violence. When providing testimony victims may also have support from family members, psychologists or legal representatives. These specialists are also able to advise prosecutors on appropriate security arrangements for victims and the court must take measures to protect the safety, physical and psychological well-being, dignity and privacy of victims. The statute allows for identities not to be made public, testimony to be provided by electronic means and the hearing to be confidential. The statute also calls for the court to establish principles relating to “reparations to victims, including restitution, compensation and rehabilitation” and to establish a trust fund which “works for victims by mobilizing people, funding opportunities for the benefit of victims and implementing court-ordered reparations awards.”

With the example of the ICC special victims’ unit in mind, please answer the following questions, choosing ‘yes’ or ‘no’ and providing a short description. If the answer is no, please provide a justification. Where ‘Yes’ or ‘No’ answers are not applicable (i.e. questions 2-4), ‘NA’ has been inserted. In these cases, please answer the question directly in the ‘Description/justification’ field.

2.9. The role of volunteerism in victim support

From the research carried out in phases 1 & 2, one of the most striking features of the more robust generic victim support systems in Europe is the crucial role played by volunteers.

- a. With this in mind, please provide an overview (max 500 words) of the tradition of volunteerism in the area of the victim of support in your country; i.e. outlining whether such a culture exists, what is the historical background for why it does or does not exist; how is the situation changing and focusing on any discernible trends; explaining also the typical profile of volunteers who work in the field - e.g. well educated? Professional background - working in a particular field (e.g. legal, social work); typical tasks? (E.g. provision of legal/psychological advice? Or restricted to informing victims of rights etc.). How many hours a week do volunteers typically give of their time? Are numbers of volunteers increasing or decreasing?

Despite the fact that volunteering has relatively long historical roots (first charity organisations were established in the XVIII century), it is not widespread and widely accepted in Lithuania. Furthermore, information concerning volunteerism in the country is general and not singled out by the specific, such as victim support, areas. As it is stated in the study of Volunteerism in Lithuania carried out by Social information centre¹⁵² in 2010, only during the past years positive changes have been noticed in the development of volunteerism in the country: citizens are more aware what 'volunteerism' is (87%) and more often get involved into voluntary activities (61% in 2010, while in 2008 it was 48% of the respondents). The fact why volunteerism just now starts being widely accepted is explained by the 'voluntary' structures existed under the Soviet regime, where people of different ages were expected and forced to participate by the state. Thus, after the restoration of independence in 1990, volunteering developed against the background of mistrust and negative perceptions. The development of volunteering in Lithuania post-1989 has been also remarked by the revival of some voluntary organizations which were active in the independent inter-war Lithuanian state (1918-1940), especially religious organisations and groups, strongly supported by the Catholic Church (e.g. Caritas, A.C. Patria, etc.). Further developments of volunteerism in the country have been related to the initiatives from abroad, including the activities under the United Nation's International Year of Volunteers in 2001, the EU youth programmes and other activities supported by foreign donors. The latest developments of the volunteering in Lithuania have been related to European year of voluntary activities promoting active citizenship in 2011. Positive changes have been noticed both on practical and legislative level. From 2006 there was no legal act in the country that would include and emphasise voluntary activities, while in 2011 the Law on Volunteering¹⁵³ has been adopted. According to the study Volunteering in Lithuania (Savanorystė Lietuvoje)¹⁵⁴, mostly volunteer is 20-39 years old (32% of respondents), female (55%), has a degree of high education (35%) and works as a hired employee (41%). 60% of voluntaries are married or live in the cohabitation. According to the study 27% of respondents live in the rural area and 26% in the city with more than 200 thousand inhabitants. Female voluntaries mostly provide services for children and youth, disabled and elder people, as well as are involved into the organisations of psychological and social assistance, hotlines; meanwhile men are engaged in organizing massive sport events. It is essential to emphasise that volunteers mostly get involved into environment cleaning activities; meanwhile services that would be related to victim support organizations are not so popular. Only 9% of the respondent of the survey indicated that they are involved into the activities of organisations that provide psychological and/or social services. On average volunteers give few hours per month of their time for the volunteering (29% - less than one hour per month, 29% - up to four hours per month), 26% of respondents indicated from one to four hours per week. Statistical information on voluntary activities is not collected in a systematic way. According to the latest statistics, there have been 2935 voluntaries in the day centres in 2011 (2847 in 2010), 62 persons volunteer for the institutions for elder people (80 in 2010), 15 persons were engaged to services for disabled people (6 in 2010) and 169 persons worked as volunteers in the children foster institutions (107 in 2010)¹⁵⁵.

- b. If there is no tradition of volunteerism in the area of the victim of support in your country, please outline (in max 500 words) any recent initiatives or attempts in the area of victim support to encourage a greater culture of volunteerism.

Information concerning volunteerism and its development in the country is general and not single out by the specific, such as victim support, areas. As an example of good practice engaging volunteers in the area of victim support, Caritas Lithuanian project 'Aid to the victims of trafficking and prostitution' could be mentioned. Project has a separate Volunteer programme¹⁵⁶ for coordination of the activities implemented by the volunteers. Volunteers of the project implement the following activities: visit the project's client-girls, communicate with them, listen to them and support them; help and teach them how to do their household, cook, look after their children; help to organise the leisure time of the client-girls: lead them to museums, exhibition halls, concerts, cinema once the social workers organise such activities. Volunteers can also participate in professional trainings conducted by psychologists, social workers, police officials, physicians, and other specialists. According to the latest data, 39 volunteers have been trained for the work with victims of human trafficking in 2011.¹⁵⁷

2.10. The tradition of social work

In max 400 words, please provide an overview of whether there is a tradition of social work in your country, and if so, in what way (if any) is it linked to the victim support services structure in your country. In your answer, please include the level of education of a typical social worker (e.g. is university or third level education necessary?).

The tradition of social work is relatively young in Lithuania. The beginning of it is remarked by the restoration of independence in 1990, when the reform of social security system started and the need of social work raised. Subsequently Lithuanian Social Workers Association (Lietuvos Socialinių Darbuotojų Asociacija) was established in 1994, Lithuanian social workers code of ethics was adopted in 1997, while the requirements for the social workers were approved in 2006. Victims of crime are not specifically mentioned as the group of clients that social worker works with.¹⁵⁸ However they are main social services providers in NGOs and governmental institutions. It confirms the art. 19 of the Law on Social services which indicates that "social services of general interest and social attendance shall be provided by the social services establishments which are engaged in the provision of social services".¹⁵⁹ In accordance with paragraph 1 art. 20 of this law "social work shall be carried out by the social workers and assistant social workers working at social services establishments"¹⁶⁰. As it is emphasised in the Law on Social services a right to work as social worker has only a person who has received a higher education in social work or equivalent education (art. 20, paragraph 4)¹⁶¹. There are three types of education programmes for social workers: 1) non-university degree (graduate receive vocational qualification); 2) basic studies at the university (bachelor degree); 3) Master studies at the university (master degree).

2.11. Promising practices in the area of victim support

From the following list of promising practices (detailed explanations found under Annex 1), please identify whether there is a similar practice in your country (yes or no) and provide a brief explanation/description. If you have identified other promising practices not similar to the ones presented here, please provide details under '16' – 'Other promising practices'.

| 1 | Initiative to provide cross-border victims of crime with basic information: In May 2009, the Inter-Regional Crime Prevention working group of the Grande Région (LU, FR, DE, BE) published a basic information guide for victims, detailing what to do in the event one is a victim of a crime or an accident. | | x | Basic information of cross border victims is provided in other ways. For instance, information about social services and relevant contacts were included into the "Manual of implementation of third country nationals' integration" published by International Organization for Migration Vilnius office in 2009. There is also some publications with relevant information for victims of human trafficking. Mostly information is provided not for victims directly, but for the officers working with them. | 3 | Schemes for compensatory fines to help fund support services: In addition to other funding sources, several EU Member States generate money for generic victim support services through a 'Victims of Crime fund' or the like, whereby persons convicted of an offence pay a fine to help the funding of services for victims of crime (for example, in BE, LT, NL, PL & SE). | | x | The Crime Victims Fund (Nukentėjusių nuo nusikaltimo asmenų fondas) is administered by the Ministry of Justice and is accounted in a special program, which is used to compensate the damage caused by the violent crimes. As it is stated in the Law on Compensation of damages caused by violent crimes (Lietuvos Respublikos smurtiniais nusikaltimais padarytos žalos kompensavimo įstatymas ¹⁶²) victims have a right to get state guaranteed legal aid and compensation from the Crime Victims Fund. | 5 | In some countries, victims can be accompanied in court by victim support services, ensuring a fuller realisation of victims' rights and helping to prevent secondary victimisation. | x | | If victim of crime does not contradict, legal acts of the Republic of Lithuania do not prohibit accompanying victims by the representatives of victim support services. ¹⁶³ |
| 6 | In some countries, victims are provided with free psychosocial and legal assistance throughout the entire criminal proceedings. | | x | Regarding psychological assistance, although workplaces of psychologists have been established at 5 courts, there was no funding, therefore such services are not provided. ¹⁶⁴ There is possibility to receive free legal aid in the 'legal clinics'. However they provide legal assistance concerning various kinds of legal questions, not specifically related to crime. |
| 7 | Some countries have legal clinics that provide free legal assistance to victims of crime. | | x | Practice of legal clinics exist in Lithuania, however it provides legal assistance concerning various kind of legal questions, not specifically related to crime. As an example, Legal clinic of Vilnius University (Vilniaus Universiteto teisės klinika ¹⁶⁵) provides free legal assistance concerning questions on the civil law, family law, administration law, social care and labour law. |
| 8 | Some countries are exploring new and innovative ways of disseminating information to victims of crime in the form of web-based material, using social media and e-support etc. e.g. In SE, the Crime Victim Compensation and Support Authority initiated web-based information site called the Trial School which uses narrators' voices, texts, photographs, films and 3D animations to explain what happens at a court trial. Victim Support Finland (RIKU) operates a mobile phone service providing advice to crime victims through automatic text messages, while | | x | There is no such practice in Lithuania. Information for victims is provided by disseminating the leaflets, publishing posters and in other ways of prevention. Information is also provided on the websites of organizations which provide social services. |

| 9 | Some countries have created a 'Victim's Charter' which, not a legally binding document in itself, rather aims to describe the criminal justice system to a victim of crime, setting out victims' rights and providing clear information in relation to various aspects of criminal proceedings, state agencies, victim support organisations etc. (e.g. what happens when a crime is reported; what to expect during the investigation process, which agencies are involved in providing support etc.). | | x | 'Victim's Charter' does not exist in Lithuania. In 2004 Centre for Equality Advancement (Lygių galimybių plėtros centras) published a publication called Legal and practical advices for women victims of domestic violence (Teisiniai ir praktiniai patarimai moterims, patyrusioms prievartą šeimoje ¹⁶⁶). It aims to educate and inform victims of domestic violence about the rights and possibilities of their realization, available assistance for victims that is provided by the government and non-government organizations. However no similar publications have been published since the Law of Protection against domestic violence was adopted in 2011. |
| 10 | In SE referral from the police works effectively since several local BOJ victim support services operate on the same premises as the local police station which also is seen as a way to quickly identify victims. All police districts, in over 100 districts around Sweden, have a Crime Victim Emergency Service. People who have training in and experience of the issues faced by victims of crime are available at these offices. | | x | There is no such practice in Lithuania. However it should be mentioned that most of organizations which provide assistance for victims of crime have a strong cooperation with the police (e.g. NGO Missing Persons Family Support Centre for (Dingusių žmonių šeimų paramos centras), has officially cooperation agreement with the police since December 2004, NGO Caritas Lithuania since March 2006 ¹⁶⁷). |
| 11 | The multi-disciplinary, national referral system introduced in Bulgaria with regard to trafficking might be considered a promising practice. | | x | Organizations that work on the counter trafficking cooperate with each other both by providing assistance for victims and by implementing prevention campaigns. There is also a network of on-site legal aid stations led by an active member of the local Roma community, while the attorneys of the organisation are available online and provide free legal advice via Skype. Their area of operation also includes legal support to victims of hate crime. | | x | There are some organizations that work on the issues of Roma community in Lithuania and involve voluntaries to their activities as well. However, most of them work with Romani children. |
| 13 | Police forces in England and Wales have policies on dealing with repeat victimisation. An example of such a policy is the Thames Valley Police policy on repeat victimisation (drafted and audited in accordance with Human Rights Act 1998): Sample Extract from the policy: 1. Rationale 1.1 Research and organisational experience indicate that victims of crime and other incidents may be targeted for subsequent victimisation. This is particularly relevant in relation to offences of burglary, assault, domestic violence and hate crime. 1.2 Repeat incidents often occur soon after the initial victimisation; therefore it is important to take preventative measures quickly. Likely victims must be identified immediately and subject to a targeted crime reduction initiative. 1.3 Every victim should be asked whether they have been subject to other offences. The primary means to prevent repeat victimisation is to arrest and prosecute the offender, although other tactical options are available [...]. ¹⁶⁸ | | x | It is a gap that still needs to be addressed. |
| 14 | Many countries have practices in place to respect the rights of victims during court proceedings, particularly with regard to their rights to privacy and protection; e.g. the trial being conducted behind closed doors; witness' testimony being taken so they do not come into contact with accused (e.g. in SI, taking of testimony using technical devices (protective screen, voice disguising devices, transmission of sound from separate premises and other similar technical devices); ban on use of images related to the victimisation; other measures undertaken by judges or prosecutors (or jury?) in respect of victims' rights? (e.g. jurors in FR swear an oath pledge not to betray the interests of the victim). | | x | If the victim has a status of protected witness, video or telephone conference may be used for witnessing. ¹⁶⁹ Moreover, identity of the witnessing victim may be fully or partially anonymous. ¹⁷⁰ The cumulative conditions for applying (full/partial) anonymity are: grave crime, important witness, and real threat to life/health of the witness or his/her family members, close relatives, business and other interests. ¹⁷¹ However, video-conferencing is not physically possible in all |

2.12 Role of the victim in practice

When it comes to perceiving or conceptualising victims of crime, certain ideal types or models can be distinguished. Finally, victim is perceived as a person who is entitled to see that justice is done and participate in criminal proceedings. Victim and his/her representative have a right: to provide evidence, provide requests; to get an access to the criminal proceeding during the pre-trial process and in trial; to appeal against the judgement or order; to say the final speech (Criminal procedure code, art. 28(2)).¹⁷⁴ * According to the Constitution of the Republic of Lithuania art. 30 "Compensation for material and moral damage inflicted upon a person shall be established by law".¹⁷⁵ |

The victim is a private person who suffered physical, material or moral damage due to criminal activity, who must be recognized as such by a decision of a pre-trial officer, prosecutor or court order. ¹⁷⁷ The victim is seen as equal to the accused with regards to criminal proceedings (procedural equality). ¹⁷⁸ |
| 2 | The victim is under a legal requirement or is requested to actively participate in criminal proceedings, for example as a witness | x | | The victim is required to witness under oath and is responsible for fraudulent witnessing. ¹⁷⁹ |

IMPORTANT:

In accordance with question 2.2.1b, if you have identified your country as belonging to category 'A'; please respond only to questions 3.3 and 3.4 of part B.

In accordance with question 2.2.1b, if you have identified your country as belonging to any category other than 'A'; please respond only to questions 3.1 – 3.3 of part B.

2 Part B:

3.1 Establishment of generic victim support organisations*¹⁸¹

3.1.1 Please outline who (i.e. state or non-state actor) took the initiative for first setting up victim support services.

Max 250 words

3.1.2 Where did the money come from to support this first attempt?

Max 150 words

3.1.3 What were the circumstances leading to the establishment of the victim support service(s)?

Max 200 words

3.1.4 Quality standards

| | Yes | No | Description (max 3-5 sentences) |
|--|-----|----|---------------------------------|
| Do formally adopted key performance indicators exist in relation to the quality of services provided by generic victim support services? If yes, please describe them. | | | |

3.2 Personnel (professional staff and volunteers)*:

Taking the below as an example, please provide information with regard to professional staff and volunteers working in the area of generic victim support in 2012 (if more than one organisation dealing with generic victim support please produce a separate table for each organisation).

¹⁸¹ Questions marked with * should NOT be answered by countries falling into category 'A' (in accordance with question 2.2.1)

| Country | Name of organisation | Professional staff | | Volunteers | | |
|---------|----------------------|--------------------|---------------------------|--------------|---------------------------|-------------------------|
| | | # staff | hours contracted per week | # volunteers | hours contracted per week | Value of volunteer work |
| | | | | | | |

3.3 Services provided by the state:

From the below list, please answer 'yes' or 'no' if the following general services are provided directly by the state free of charge to victims and provide a short description – to be answered by all.

| Services provided to victims by the state (free of charge) | Yes | No | Description |
|---|-----|----|---|
| a Free legal advice by courts or free legal assistance | x | | Courts do not provide for legal advice, but state guarantees free legal advice (consultation) to everybody, and free secondary assistance to some victims. ¹⁸² |
| b Free health/psychological assistance (e.g. crisis intervention centres) | | x | Regarding psychological assistance, although work-places of psychologists have been established at 5 courts, there was no funding, therefore such services are not provided. ¹⁸³ There is possibility to receive free legal aid in the 'legal clinics'. However they provide legal assistance concerning various kinds of legal questions, not specifically related to crime. It should be mentioned that NGOs which provide assistance for victims of crime mainly provide comprehensive assistance including health and psychological assistance. All services that provide NGOs are free of charge. |
| c Emergency financial assistance | | x | Emergency financial assistance is not provided for the victims; however the Law on Compensation of damage inflicted by violent crimes provides the possibility of an advanced payment of compensation. ¹⁸⁴ |
| d Court accompaniment/support services | x | | The state guarantees the services of representation at court to some victims, as explained under section 2.6.5 "Legal aid for victims." Only a recognized victim has the right to free representation (lawyer's accompaniment) at court. ¹⁸⁵ Representatives can be advocates or their assistants, or, upon permission of pre-trial officer, prosecutor or judge – any other authorised person with legal education . ¹⁸⁶ |
| e Other (specify) | x | | Special regulation of compensation is available for Holocaust victims, i.e. under the law on Compensation for Jewish Religious Communities, surviving Jewish victims are compensated for damage sustained due to totalitarian regimes. ¹⁸⁷ |

3.4 (Failed) Attempts to establish national generic victim support service provider188

Please describe whether there has ever been any attempt to establish a generic victim support service organisation in your country, specifying the year in which it was established and who attempted it (i.e. state or non-state actor). Why did it not succeed? If you cannot identify such an attempt, please explain the absence of the establishment of such an organisation (historical reasons etc.) and identify whether there is any discussion at government level/media etc. concerning the need to establish/improve services for victims.

Max 250 words

Regarding to the question of attempts to establish national generic victim support service it was contacted with the Ministries that work on the issue of criminal victim support. However neither Ministry of Justice, nor Ministry of Social security and labour were able to explain the reasons why there is no national provider of such services in the country. Ministry of Social security and labour indicated that there are no plans to initiate the establishment of generic victim support organization, which would provide a comprehensive assistance for victims of crime, in the future.¹⁸⁹

Annex 2 –list of generic victim support organisations by country

In accordance with question 2.2.1a, please review the list and short description of structure of generic victim support organisations operational in your country and edit as necessary, ensuring that all significant victim support providers (especially those operating at national level) are mentioned.

Countries shaded in green have been identified (on the basis of country reports submitted for phases 1 & 2 of the project) as not having any generic victim support organisations. These countries should please provide a short list of the main organisation(s) providing victim support in one of the two specialised areas of victim support focused on in the phase 2 country report (see annex 3 for a list). As a default, please select the area ‘Domestic violence and stalking’.

| | Name/short description of organisation(s) |
|----|---|
| AT | In every of Austria’s nine provinces (Bundesländer), branches of national organisations and local victim support organisations are operative. Weisser Ring (NGO) is currently the largest general victim support organisation operating in Austria. Today, the White Ring operates out of a federal office in Vienna and nine branches in all Austrian provinces, as well as 14 representation offices at regional level. |
| BE | Bureaux d’assistance aux victimes; Victim’s reception service in each of the 27 judicial districts and at the community level, assistance to victims is organized through Centres for Victims of Crime; |
| BG | |
| CY | The Social Welfare Services which is the only umbrella service providing support to various victim “groups”, the rest of the initiatives are targeted on specific victim “groups” and are under the non-governmental sector. However, the services provided by the SWS are targeted mainly towards victims of domestic violence and victims of trafficking. |
| CZ | The Probation and Mediation Service (“PMS”); the White Circle of Justice |
| DE | The largest volunteer victim support service (operating nationwide) is the Weisser Ring e.V. In Berlin, Hamburg, Lower Saxony, Saxony, Mecklenburg-Western Pomerania and Hesse independent victim support charities (Opferhilfe e.V) run local offices. A nationwide coverage of professional victim support services does not exist, although a number of the professional support services are organised under the auspices of the umbrella organisation Working Group of Victim Support in Germany ‘ado’. In many states (Bavaria, Baden-Württemberg, Bremen, Saarland, Rhineland-Palatinate, Saxony-Anhalt, Schleswig-Holstein and Thuringia) generic professional victim support services as described above do not maintain offices. Here volunteer support services fill this gap. |
| DK | The Victim Support in Denmark (VID) (Offerrådgivningen, OID). The general victim support service in Denmark consists of 33 different general local entities with VID as their umbrella organisation. |
| EE | The citizen-initiated Union of Support to Victims of Crime “Victim Support” (Kuriteoohvrite Toetamise Uhing “Ohvriabi”), founded in 1994. It is still the only organisation that provides support to victims of crime in general, without specialisation to any type of victim group. |
| EL | |
| ES | The management of the Offices for Support to Victims of Crimes (Oficinas de Asistencia a las Víctimas de Delitos, OAV) is the responsibility of regional governments having the Spanish government used the ability to “set up management agreements entrusted with the Autonomous Communities and local Corporations”. In Spain, these are the only victim support services that can be considered to have a generic character because of dealing with many sorts of victims particularly since this very year. |

|-----------|---|
| FI | In 1994, Victim Support Finland (Rikosuhripäivystys / Brottsofferjouren) began its activities. It was the first organisation to offer victim support services and still is the only organisation providing services to victims of various different types of crimes, as most other third sector actors specialise in providing assistance to certain specific victim groups. |
| FR | The National Institute for Victims and Mediation (L'Institut national d'aide aux victimes et de médiation, INAVEM) was established in 1986 to promote greater coherence and activity for victim support services. Since June 2004, the INAVEM has had the status of federation, representing member associations (www.inavem.org). Services for victims (services d'aide aux victimes, SAV) are members of the INAVEM. 150 associations are adherents to the INAVEM and provide psychological, logistic, financial and legal support to victims . |
| HR | County Court level: There are special departments for victim and witness support (Odjeli za organiziranje i pružanje podrške svjedocima i žrtvama), established at the following seven county courts as part of the court administration: Zagreb, Split, Rijeka, Osijek, Zadar, Vukovar, Sisak. Special departments provide victim and witness support in trials for all criminal offences. |
| HU | Metropolitan and county offices of the Victim Support Service. There are also a few NGOs that operate in the field of victim support. The White Ring Association is specialised in assisting victims of any crime and it provides similar services as the state agency, however the scope of its activities is rather limited due to financial burdens |
| IE | Various non-governmental victim support organisations – e.g. the Federation for Victim Assistance (10 branches); Support After Crime Services; ITAS. |
| IT | |
| LT | |
| LU | In Luxembourg there are few generic victim support organisations, as typically, each organisation is tasked with clear missions and has clear responsibilities. They are two; Waisse rank Service d'aide aux victimes du parquet general. Other organisations offer assistance to victims of a particular type of violence. |
| LV | |
| MT | Victim Support Malta (VSM). |
| NL | Victim Support Netherlands (VSN) (Slachtofferhulp Nederland , SHN). |
| PL | Support Network for Victims of Crimes (consisting of 16 regional support centres); social welfare centres (ośrodki pomocy społecznej), crisis intervention centres (ośrodki interwencji kryzysowej) or the support centres (ośrodki wsparcia), which offer support for people in various crisis situations. |
| PT | Portuguese Association for Victim Support (Associação Portuguesa de Apoio à Vítima , APAV) - 15 victim support offices located throughout the country. |
| RO | |
| SE | The Swedish Association for Victim Support (Brottsofferjouernas Riksförbund , BOJ) is the national umbrella organisation for victim support services with about 100 local victim service centres in Sweden. |
| SI | |
| SK | Non-governmental organizations are virtually the only active players in the field of victim support services. Pomoc obetiam násilia is the leading victim support service provider. |
| UK | Victim Support (England and Wales) Victim Support (Scotland) Victim Support (Northern Ireland) |
